FLINT, MI – Financial Plus Credit Union’s Director of Human Resources, Nicole Gaby, has been named the Credit Union National Association’s (CUNA) 2022 Rising Star. Gaby was recognized during an awards luncheon ceremony at the CUNA HR & Organization Council Conference in that took place April 24th - 27th.

“HR and organizational development professionals continue to experience unprecedented challenges at their credit unions. Despite this, members of our community have forged ahead to convert these challenges to opportunities for providing even stronger solutions for their colleagues, members and communities,” said Jan Johnson, vice chair of the HROD Council, chair of the Awards & Recognition Committee, and executive vice president of organizational agility at Royal Credit Union. “We honor and appreciate their collaboration and leadership across the credit union movement.”

Gaby’s 2022 Rising Star Award recognizes an emerging credit union professional in HR or organizational development. Selection was based on the candidate’s council member involvement, contributions to their credit union, described contributions to a major project, and contribution potential to the future of the credit union industry.
